Those who last reported in 2002:

Ethel Engle, Stephen Ford, Shirley Geddes, Janet Millenson, Kenneth Sander, Byron Swift, David Walbeck (These individuals will be dropped from the next List Report unless they submit their list totals for 2007).

This is the 21st year that the Maryland List Report has been compiled and published. The list was begun in 1986 by Harvey Mudd, was taken on by Phil Davis in the early 1990s, and then was passed on to Norm Saunders with the 2001 List Report. We sincerely hope that the list is taken in the vein in which it is meant--a way to have fun with our listing mania. If some have stopped reporting their lists because they feel the competition has become too intense, please understand that this is for fun and that we would love to see you return. We're in the middle of a generational switch and we hope that all of you, young and not so young, hang in there and watch the evolving skills of so many fine young birders here in Maryland as well as getting into the excitement of the race to be the first birder to reach 400 species in Maryland.

Maryland/DC List Report, 2006

What a year it was! About 8 or 10 years ago, Mark Hoffman was speculating about what would be necessary for someone to reach 400 bird species on their Maryland Life List. Frankly, at the time, I thought it a silly question about an unreachable goal. Silly me. For the first time we have three of our top birders within striking distance of this incredible feat and I know a lot of us will be watching in 2007 to see if it can really happen. What were the best new birds in 2006? Well, Townsend's Warbler, Varied Thrush, Inca Dove, and Tropical Kingbird, to name just a few. Also, a cooperative Eurasian Collared-Dove finally found its way onto many of the top and not-so-top lists this past year. How about the newly split Cape Verde Shearwater on a pelagic trip out of Lewes, DE, a Southern Lapwing discovered in the Worcester County marshes while carrying out Atlas surveys, an Anna's Hummingbird, and a "Snowy-bellied" Martin sp., still being researched as to the correct species. The mob of American White Pelicans at Blackwater was new to many lists, as was the Sabine's Gull at Conowingo Dam and the White-faced Ibis in Worcester County. What a year, indeed.

A bit of a shakeup took place in the Maryland Life List standings this past year. Paul O'Brien, from Montgomery County, surged to the top of the list once again, with 8 new species, lifting him to 397, followed by Mark Hoffman (Carroll County) and Jim Stasz (Calvert County) at 396 species each. In a not-so-distant 4th place is Virginian Paul Pisano with 384 species. Top lister for the year was Jim Stasz, with 308, followed by Matt Hafner (Harford County) with 301 species, the same number he saw in 2005, and Kevin Graff (Baltimore County) with 292, Bill Hubick (Baltimore County) with 290 species, and Dave Powell (Montgomery County) with 279. The coveted "Maryland 300 Club" has added nine new folks this year, now including 87 of our current reporters. The "All-Time 300 Club" the list of folks who have ever reported totals of over 300 species in Maryland, now stands at 111 members, made up of Maryland's past and present top birders. Those adding the most new birds to their lists this year include Parke John (Cecil County) with a whopping 36 new species, Duvall Sollers (Baltimore County) with 17 new birds, and Bill Hubick with 16.

Rob Hilton (Montgomery County) continues to hold down the top spot on the District of Columbia Life

List, with 267 species, followed by Paul Pisano with 263, Gail Mackiernan (Montgomery County) with 248, and Barry Cooper (Montgomery County) with 247. Highest counts for 2006 in DC were Paul Pisano with 198, and John Beetham (DC), with 168 species.

In the Maryland Yard List category, the highest "Home" list is held by Philadelphian Harry Armistead, with 266 species from his weekend hangout in Talbot County, followed by Maryland expatriate John Gregoire, who has 218 species in his parents' Prince George's yard, and by Jim Stasz, following closely with 216 species in his Calvert County yard (including a large chunk of the Chesapeake Bay!). In the "Work/Other" category, the leaders are Kyle Rambo (St. Mary's County), with 294 species on the grounds of the Patuxent Naval Air Station, Patty Craig (St. Mary's County), with 266 species on her 2nd home, Point Lookout State Park, and by Dave Webb (Harford County), with his 224 species on Aberdeen Proving Grounds property. Highest 2006 count in the Maryland Home/Work/Other Yard list was Harry Armistead, with 168 species, followed by Jeff Shenot (Prince George's County) with 160 species.

New reporter Michael Jennison leads the "Home" category of the DC Yard List, with 76 species, while Norm Saunders has 89 species from 15 years of rambling through the parks of Capitol Hill, for the top "Work/Other" DC list.

The popularity of the Maryland Total Tick List continues to become more popular, with 31 individuals now reporting their total tick (the sum of their sighting lists for all 23 counties). These folks had to have a total tick of at least 2,300, an average of 100 species per county. Top lister is Jim Stasz, with a county average of 265 species and the only total tick in excess of 6,000, followed by Bob Ringler (Carroll County), with an average of 234 species per county, and Marshall Iliff (Anne Arundel, then California, then Massachusetts) with his average of 220 species. Top total tick honors for 2006 go to Bill Hubick, with an average of 113 species per county this past year, followed by Kevin Graff, averaging 110 species. The purpose of the Total Tick List is to demonstrate a breadth of experience finding bird species across the entire state of Maryland.

Jim Stasz's specialty, the Maryland All-County List, also known by many as the County Closeout List, is led, of course, by Jim Stasz, who has seen 178 species in all 23 counties. He's followed by Bob Ringler, with 127 closeouts, and by Marshall Iliff, with 118. Bill Hubick reported 24 new closeouts for 2006, a number that is inversely correlated with age and directly correlated with enthusiasm!

George Jett (Charles County) and Jim Stasz are now tied for the Birds Photographed in Maryland List, with 360 species each. George added 20 new species to his list in 2006 and contends that he really should be in the lead since NONE of his photographed birds were "in the hand", something, he points out, which cannot be said for Jim's total. George was the only one to report his annual photograph totals for 2006—he had 210 bird species in his view finder last year.

I'm leaving the top county listers for you to discover on your own. Browse the county lists of listers to your heart's content. Following are most of the personal highlights and comments sent to me this year.

Harry Armistead's biggest thrill of the year was his daughter's wedding. Ask him about it—it makes a great story!

John Beetham did a Big Day in DC on May 13, when he and two others tallied 101 species while roaming the Aquatic Gardens, Kenilworth Park, and Rock Creek Park.

Gwen Brewer was excited about adding her namesake bird to her MD Life list—Brewer's Blackbird! Oh, and the guy with the camera is still dogging her every move.

Kevin Graff is looking forward to more birding time in 2007. He has a goal of seeing a minimum of 100 species per county and getting his year list back over 300. His other goal is to make some sense of his county records to see how many closeouts he really has.

Patty Craig apologizes for not getting her lists in on time. Rumor has it she's been cutting back on her birding time to visit with her new grandchild in Phoenix. Get your priorities straight, Patty! She did exult in a Black Vulture nest she found on her property this past year which she located entirely by smell.

Phil Davis was moved to quote Frank Sinatra in honor of his 9 new MD Life List birds in 2006: "It was a very good year!"

Now that Atlas data collection is complete, Fred Fallon has reportedly taken to roaming the entire state again. If you see this man, let Jane know where and when.

New list submitter Diane Ford introduces herself as an avid birdwatcher and wildlife artist. In addition to her Montgomery County yard, for which she has been compiling a list since 1982, her favorite birding locales include Rock Creek Park, Hughes Hollow, Blue Mash Nature Trail, Bombay Hook (gack...NOT Maryland), and Blackwater NWR.

Barbara Gearhart reminds us, as we reflect upon 2006, to not forget our friends Hugh Mahanes, Jay Smith, and Gary Smyle who passed away last year. They were good men, good birders, and they will be missed by all who knew them.

Matt Hafner's highlights included getting all of his Eastern Shore County lists over 200. He didn't mention getting married, but I assume that was a highlight as well. Lowlights included Hans gaining ground on him in the MD Life List and Total Tick categories. He says, "I was trying to get a lead on him before I left for Virginia!" Matt is joining his wife, who has a year left in Veterinary School. She is specializing in equine medicine and they hope to return to Maryland upon her graduation.

Rob Hilton, a stickler for detail, noted that he saw 9 new species in Maryland, 2 in DC, and 5 in Montgomery County. His "work/other" list is made up of birds seen from his office window and from the parking lot. Not bad!

Here are Mark Hoffman's comments verbatim. I can't say them any better. "2006 was a truly remarkable year for state listers. My total of eight new state birds ties my most adds (counting since 1984) from 1992, when my state list was some 40 species lower. From December of 2001, I went two and one-half years without any state birds; in the past two and one-half years I have added 15 species. That shows just how remarkable the year was. Five of the adds were first state records. I am happy just to get one new state bird per year, though after being spoiled in the recent past (8, 3, and 4 in the past three years), one might not seem that great!"

John Hubbell had 2 milestones in 2006: 1) on July 4th he got his 4,000 total tick, a Northern Bobwhite in Anne Arundel County, and his 90th closeout species, a Great Egret in Calvert County; and 2) on December 30 he saw Maryland State bird #345 (Tropical Kingbird) and county closeout #100, Hooded Merganser in Wicomico County. He still insists he lives in DC.

George Jett writes: "The birding highlight for me is having Gwen Brewer as a birding partner. With 360 photo species, I must be close to Uncle Jim's state photo list. Are Jim and I required to list the new state photo species now that we are both over 350 species? My last was Brewer's Blackbird in Charles on December 17, 2006 on the Port Tobacco CBC. I share all my new images with Jim." Gosh, George, you are a true romantic.

Hank Kaestner reports no new Maryland birds in 2006 but he did add Greater White-fronted Goose to his Baltimore County list. His goal for 2007 is to find a Sandhill Crane.

Dennis Kirkwood, who obviously didn't have his mind on Maryland last year, reports his 600th ABA bird, an Elf Owl in Texas, and his 1,000th World bird, a White-tailed Tropicbird in Hawaii. Great itinerary, Dennis!

Andy Martin discovered the pleasures of listening to and recording overhead migrants at his Gaithersburg home this past year, adding Dickcissel, Bobolink, Greater Yellowlegs, Solitary Sandpiper, Barn Owl, and Virginia Rail to his yard list. Andy, you should do a seminar on recording techniques for the next MOS Conference!

Joel Martin writes: "Great birds like Sabine's Gull, Tropical Kingbird and Townsend's Warbler notwithstanding, the highlights of my year had to be ticking two birds that I thought might elude me forever: one a declining species that I nearly waited too long to pursue (Black Rail), and the other a reclusive migrant (Connecticut Warbler). These are mythical creatures no more!"

Carol McCollough added her 400th through her 417th life birds in Monterey, CA, in 2006, and added another 250 species later in the year with a three-week trip to Australia. In Maryland, she added a Ruff, American White Pelican, and Tropical Kingbird. Good on ya, Carol!

Lou Nielsen reports adding Rock Pigeon to his Baltimore yard list after 21 years of patiently searching the skies! He also had a flyover kingfisher, probably the most unexpected addition to his yard list. A trip to the Lower Rio Grande netted him 33 life birds, as well. Good year, Lou!

Paul O'Brien: "Such a year!"

Peter Osenton writes: "In early July, I found a male Summer Tanager in my atlas block in Howard County. This bird became # 233 for the county, and tied my Prince George's Co. list. My "Pin Oak tree list" (large Pin Oak off my deck) in my back yard, now has recorded 60 species. Late in 2006 I had a 'close, but, no cigar' when a Red-shouldered Hawk landed ON my deck railing! It was just a few feet from ANY portion of that Pin Oak, but, it did not land on the tree."

Paul Pisano comments on the miseries of big year birding: "I wasn't planning to do a big year in DC in 2006, however after seeing so many great birds in the wake of Tropical Storm Ernesto, including DC's first Long-tailed Jaeger, I realized that I was in striking range of 200. So I tried a little harder in the fall, though clearly not hard enough because I ended up missing many birds that others found in Rock Creek Park (e.g., Connecticut, Wilson's & Orange-crowned Warbler). To add to the frustration, I've already seen 2 birds in January, 2007, that I missed in 2006. Oh well, such is DC birding. And I'm not going to try for a big year in 2007 either..." Paul missed his 2006 goal by only 2 species. Bummer.

Dave Powell exults in having a three-Jaeger year!

Derek Richardson and his wife Frances moved from College Park to a new home in Laurel over the summer. Up went the feeders and in came a first state record Inca Dove. What a yard!!!

Fran Saunders underwent cochlear implant surgery early in 2006 and can now hear birds for the first time in her life! She retired from the State Department on October 31st and relocated with her husband to Cambridge, MD, the better to see those birds she can now hear!

Norm Saunders retired from the Labor Department on December 1st. He and his wife sold their home of 20 years in Montgomery County and relocated entirely to the Eastern Shore. 2007 is looking to be a very good year!

Jeff Shenot reports an exceptional year for his yard in the Jug Bay area of Prince George's County. He reports KEWA, LEBI, HOWR, BAOR, AWPE, GLIB, SORA, SOSA, BBPL, RHWO, PHVI, VEER, WIWA, CAWA, and PISI. Don't you just hate these banders???

Jim Stasz's highlights for 2006 included passing Matt Hafner in Harford County again. His lowlight was the discovery that he had misidentified an Anna's Hummingbird two years ago.

Finally, Leo Weigant relates the following (non-Maryland) experiences for 2006: "After 18 years of sailing with Debbie Shearwater, I saw a hump-backed whale breach just aft of the boat. On another trip I watched a nearby sea lion body surfing on the crest of a wave with a smile on his face. In an almost-Maryland-related experience, I stopped in Albuquerque to see a Yellow Grosbeak and noted that I had missed seeing Marcia Balestri by less than an hour."

Well, I guess this closes the books on 2006. Thanks to all of you who shared your list totals and your experiences. Here's to a safe and birdy 2007 for all! I hope to hear from all of you (and more) next January.
