2010 List Report Data Base Statistics

Number reporting for 2010: 78

Number reporting for previous year: 91

Number in data base: 263

Number who have reported during past 5 years: 138

Number of new reporters for 2010: 3

Those reporting for 2010:

Those who last reported in 2006:

Michael Jennison, Dotty Mumford, Bonnie Ott, Arlene Ripley, Frank Schaff, Marcia Watson, Dave Weesner
(These individuals will be dropped from the next List Report unless they submit their list totals for 2011).

This is the 25th year that the Maryland List Report has been compiled and published. The list was begun in 1986 by Harvey Mudd, was taken on by Phil Davis in the early 1990s, and then was passed on to Norm Saunders with the 2001 List Report. He has done 10 annual reports now and feels it is time to pass it along to someone new. If you're interested in taking it on, contact MOS President Mark Johnson.

We sincerely hope that the list is taken in the vein in which it is meant—a way to have fun with our listing mania. If some have stopped reporting their lists because they feel the competition has become too intense, please understand that this is for fun and that we would love to see you return. We're in the middle of a generational switch and we hope that all of you, young and not so young hang in there and watch the evolving skills of so many fine young birders here in Maryland as well as getting into the excitement of seeing how the Maryland 400 Club will evolve in the coming years!

Maryland/DC List Report, 2010

Well, another good year, with lots of good birds located throughout Maryland. Aside from the statements many of you elected to send along, I'm going to let you discover for yourselves how our listers are progressing. Enjoy!

Tyler Bell—Biggest miss was Cassin's Sparrow in my own county! Had never chased a Yellow-headed Blackbird based on other's experiences but had to chase Patty Craig's bird near Pt. Lookout. Too bad they're not always that easy. Had unsatisfactory looks at the Golden-crowned Sparrow on 12/22. Stopped back in on our way south from twitching DE's first Northern Wheatear on 12/25. Only two cars ahead of us and one left right after we got there. Stellar, prolonged views of the bird when it deigned to come out. Nice Christmas present!

Mike Bowen—2010 was the year when one realized that if you weren't immediately and instantaneously connected to the Internet, you would miss the initial appearance — and possibly the only appearance — of rare birds in the State of Maryland.

Carol Broderick—I saw American Bittern and Sora, both Wicomico County birds, at Ellis Bay WMA.

Gwen Brewer—Golden-crowned Sparrow was a special Christmas present this year.

Patty Craig—My yard is a rather overgrown farm with several habitats. The King Rail I added to my yard list this year came as a complete surprise and was seen during the huge rain event during migration...and I live on a hill! Point Lookout State Park is my other adopted area where I added the Cassin's Sparrow...Mikey's great find! I did see Cave Swallows and Sandwich Terns there this year, which are always enjoyable.

Jeff Culler—Another great year of Maryland birding. My two greatest highlights were finding a Say's Phoebe at Terrapin Park on October 29th and then four days later a Black-capped Chickadee at my backyard feeders. The phoebe was a new state bird for me and the chickadee a new Howard County bird. I wish everyone a great year of birding.

Walter Ellison—I keep track of many other sub-lists in my home county. My local patch/neighborhood Chesapeake Landing stands at 195 (151 in 2010). My home "atlas" block Hanesville-SE stands at 234 (164 in 2010). Other personal local lists include 225 at Eastern Neck National Wildlife Refuge (155 in 2010); and 173 at Chesapeake Farms. We have recorded 39 species at our feeders the most recent was Swamp Sparrow during Snowmageddon 2010.

Fred Fallon—Our new yard in Huntingtown, Calvert County, is hard put to match our old yard in Bowie, but a male Painted Bunting at year's end was a nice addition.

Kathy Fleming—I finally, after about 15 different tries on at least 5 different birds, managed to see and photograph a northern shrike in Maryland, at Chino Farms on Dec. 31st, 2010. I got photos of all but 2 of my year birds (sooty shearwater and golden crowned sparrow), overall a really fun year of birding in Maryland! Thanks especially to all the great birders in the state who are always willing to share information and help others locate birds.

Diane Ford—My favorite chases of the year included Tufted Duck on Kent Island, Rufous Hummingbird in College Park, getting Baird's Sandpiper as a county bird, and Sandhill Crane as a lifer and county bird. Happy chasing, everyone!

Ross Geredien—This was both a great and frustrating year. In 2010, I discovered the joys of County listing, which will keep me engaged for years to come. I also reached a personal best in 265 species for the year in MD and 355 in the ABA area. However, I missed several migrants in late April due to a trip to Texas, which was outstanding, but prohibited me from birding during some of the best weeks in Maryland. I also changed jobs during the summer, and commuting to DC has made birding during the week all but impossible, except maybe in summer during the longer daylight hours (and a little winter owling). Additionally, my wife became quite ill this fall, and I spent the month of October nursing her back to health. Fortunately, she is now doing well, and I have since been able to get out a little more. So it has been an up and down year, but one with many great bird memories. I was very grateful to see Maryland's first Golden-crowned Sparrow on Christmas Eve to cap off my state list at 295. 2011 will now be the official year that I cross the 300 mark, and I am now at 296 as of this writing with the Loggerhead Shrike on Jan. 2. I've also enjoyed getting to know more members of MOS and the AA bird club. I look forward to birding with you all in 2011!

Jim Green—The highlight of the year for me was unquestionably the August pelagic trip. This was my first pelagic trip and I could not have picked a better time to go.

I had seven new state birds! The weather, camaraderie, and overall experience was tremendous.

Matt Hafner— Kim and I are finally back in Maryland after too long of an absence! It was great seeing so many familiar faces in the field. I spent most of December seeing great birds in Maryland and look forward to more in the new year!

Joe Hanfman— 2010 seemed to start out slow, but a steady flow of birds gave me my highest MD (320) and Howard County (226) totals. Totals like this are only possible with the help of many other birders and improved communication. The year highlights had to be Mikey Lutmerding finding the Cassin's Sparrow at Point Lookout and Bruce Peterjohn finding the Golden-crowned Sparrow at Chesapeake Farms. Two LeConte's Sparrows on the same day in Howard County added to my Year of the Sparrow. My overall most exciting moment was finding the Ash-throated Flycatcher at Assateague Island followed by the Say's Phoebe at Terrapin Park with Jeff Culler.

Elaine Hendricks—Since I decided to concentrate on county closeouts this year, I added only 9 species to my Maryland life list (reaching 320), but they included some gems, such as Iceland Gull, Red Phalarope, and Sandhill Crane — all long-sought-after (OK, lusted-after) life birds for me. I finished 2010 with 73 county closeouts, over 3800 total ticks, and 138 species on my Greenbelt Lake list. It was another great birding year!

Rob Hilton— Last year I left my long-running job in Bethesda and its office windows and nearby parking lots, but not before I had two nice additions. A Ruby-throated Hummingbird hovered in front of a giant pot of plants next to Wisconsin Avenue in August. A small flock of Pine Siskins landed very close to me on the edge of the parking lot on my very last day as I was taking things to my car in late October. My home yard list grew by two species: Hairy Woodpecker and Green Heron, both in July. My Montgomery County list perked up a little bit too, as I saw a Short-billed Dowitcher at Blue Mash in July or August. I also upgraded two species in the "better view desired" category, as Lisa and I had excellent views of a Yellow-bellied Flycatcher at Wheaton Regional Park and Baird's Sandpiper at Triadelphia Reservoir on successive days in September.

George Jett—Added to my state photo list: Yellow-headed Blackbird, Golden-crowned Sparrow, Leach's Storm Petrel, Whip-poor-will.

Dennis Kirkwood—My yard includes my farm of 143 acres and other lands within walking distance of my house, basically a five mile diameter circle centered on my house. Lots of great habitat. Just when I thought I wouldn't have any new state birds for 2010, December produced the two listed in my species added section.

Joel Martin—After being stuck at 349 Maryland birds since August of 2009, it looked as though the drought might continue through 2010. But three great birds came through near the end of the year, and I was fortunate to be able to tick Say's Phoebe, Ash-throated Flycatcher and Golden-crowned Sparrow. It was a good year to add wading birds and shorebirds to many county lists. A personal highlight was finding both Mourning Warbler (2) and Connecticut Warbler in the same year. As always it was a pleasure to explore new birding hotspots and to meet others in the Maryland birding community.

Jim Moore—It was only my second year birding in Maryland after moving here from Massachusetts, and I really started to appreciate what a great state for birding this is! Thanks to all those who have helped me learn how to bird the state, and also those who submit reports to eBird, a great bird finding tool. Had listing goals of 200 life and year in my home county of Montgomery and 300 life and year in the state. I'm primarily a weekend-only birder (there ought to be a separate category for us!), so I was happy to achieve most of those goals given the limited time I have to bird. I scored 213 for the year and 225 life in Montgomery county and 318 Maryland state birds—just 298 Maryland year, but would have made 300 with ease if all the winter Paulagics hadn't been cancelled! One of the highlights of the year for me was the Black-capped Chickadee irruption. I had no idea these guys even irrupted. And finding them in my home county was as if old friends from up north were coming down to visit me. And since this is a "brag book," I'll note that, AFAIK, on 10/23 I had the first field ID of out of range Black-caps in the state south of Cecil County (by "field ID" I mean unassociated with banding). In 2011 my goals are less ambitious: twitch less and start multi-county listing — mostly as an excuse to explore even more great birding areas in this diverse state.

Jim Nelson—My Maryland birding this year was confined to Montgomery County except for one short birdwalk in Caroline County in conjunction with an MOS Board meeting. I spent a lot of time watching birds in our small suburban back yard, and in neighbor's trees. As a result, I had my largest single-year yard list ever. The highlight was seeing my first Philadelphia Vireo in Maryland in a tree in our back yard.

Paul O'Brien—Missed Cassin's Sparrow by 2 hours, Missed Anna's Hummingbird by 4 hours. I seem to be falling further and further behind.

Peter Osenton—I didn't chase as much as I usually do, so I added just 1 Maryland State bird in 2010, the Golden-crowned Sparrow. However, yard birding was fantastic as I added 2 new species, a Barred Owl and an American Tree Sparrow during one of the February snowstorms. My year yard list totaled 101 species, tying my 2nd best year ever in the 13 years I've lived here.

Dave Perry—I really enjoyed birding in Caroline County throughout the year 2010. I discovered and enjoyed several new birding locations in the county as well as enjoying birding the reliable hot spots. I'm looking forward to many new birding experiences in 2011.

Paul Pisano—My DC year list was a pretty unremarkable 177 in 2010, which I attribute to more time spent on the south side of the city (especially Hains Pt.), and less time at Rock Creek Park during migration. However, if it means seeing Long-tailed Jaeger, Stilt Sandpiper, Whimbrel and American Avocet in the District, I guess it's an acceptable consolation. And a big "thanks" to Dave Czaplak for finding the Arctic Tern along the Potomac. I figured that I would have to do more hours on a spring or late summer pelagic to finally catch up with that species in the state (not that it would be such a bad thing).

Danny Poet—Highlights for 2010 were seeing White Pelican in Queen Anne's County, a county bird for me, getting Loggerhead Shrike at Pickering Creek, a Talbot County bird for me, getting photos of Lapland Longspurs in Queen Anne's County in February. I was thrilled to see the Golden-crowned Sparrow at Cheseapeake Farms in Kent County, and it was great to lead the Queen Anne's County Listers Trip during the 2010 MOS Convention...that gave me a lot of help for my good Queen Anne County year list!

Derek Richardson—We added 3 species to our yard list in 2010: American Tree Sparrow (2/12); Belted Kingfisher (5/1); and Eastern Screech-Owl (11/1). Although I did not get to do as much birding as I would have liked this year, I did add 6 species to my world lifelist, including, at long last, Gyrfalcon (1/31: near Vancouver, BC), Painted Bunting (2/14: Bowie), and Yellow-headed Blackbird (6/1: near Vancouver, BC).

Les Roslund—Say's Phoebe on Kent Island for an afternoon and Loggerhead Shrike near Pickering Creek for a week were certainly the highlights. Talbot County lists are greatly helped by taking boat trips to Poplar Island at various times of the year. Birder communication efficiency in the state has taken a great leap forward, so now I have no one to blame but myself for my rather pitiful state life list. Many thanks to the front line birders who promptly share their sightings, and to the property owners who step up to graciously accommodate the members of our birding community.

Kurt Schwarz—Not too shabby a year, adding five choice species to my MD list, and seven to my Howard County list. I've added a new species to the yard list, Black-capped Chickadee, and also found an overlooked record from 2006, a fly over of Tundra Swans, for a net gain of two species. Note that I have listed other counties where I have reached the threshold, however, at least 2 1/2 years of data have yet to be input to eBird, so those numbers will grow over the next few weeks. And there are records prior to 1994 to be entered, though they are somewhat haphazard. I haven't a clue how many I photographed, but it was quite a few. Looking forward to a productive 2011, and 2013, when I will have a LOT more free time.

Fred Shaffer—My highlights from 2010 included viewing the Black-headed Gull at Schoolhouse Pond during the first February blizzard, seeing the flyover Little Gull at Schoolhouse Pond in September, and having the Arctic Tern pass overhead while kayaking at Jug Bay. Other highlights included the August pelagic, when several rare storm-petrels were seen and a South Polar Skua passed overhead late in the day. Birding Prince George's County especially hard this year was rewarding as I beat my personal best for species in a year for the county. Other favorite birds of 2010 included the Greater White-fronted Goose and Common Moorhen at Schoolhouse Pond, in March and July respectively. Lastly, the exceptionally late Ovenbird was a nice surprise at Schoolhouse Pond during a very cold week in December.

Jeff Shenot—This was a great year with many surprises added to our "yard" life list. Our property is in PG County adjacent to Jug Bay, and has a wide variety of habitats so we are fortunate to see many species in any given year. Highlights this year included Tricolored Heron (many people added this species to their PG list this year), American Golden Plover, Black-headed Gull, Thayer's Gull, Royal Tern, Alder Flycatcher (many also added this to their County lists in 2010), Olive-sided Flycatcher, and Black-capped Chickadee. The Black-capped Chickadee showed up at our feeders in December and has remained since then, and are very rare for the coastal plain. There were many other MD highlights in 2010, including seeing many of MD's fellow birders while chasing great birds! Perhaps my favorite experiences this year were the Golden-crowned Sparrow for Christmas, and Yellow Rail I saw on November's rarity round-up. MD is a great state to bird in, and we are fortunate to have so many talented birders who are always out there looking. I learned a great deal this year from them - thanks to all!!

Jo Solem—LeConte's Sparrow in Howard County was definitely the high point of the year. After who-knows-how-many-years of searching with Bonnie Ott for this species, it was appropriate that it was found on the annual Sparrow Big Day. Hadn't anticipated the excellent and extended looks for this often elusive species.

Leslie Starr—The August 15 pelagic trip has to be a highlight of my birding year, adding six state birds to my personal list. Of my ten other state birds, a few were somewhat ordinary birds I had been missing, but several were state rarities, including the Black-bellied Whistling Ducks and the Golden-crowned Sparrow.

Warren Strobel—Finally crossed into the 300 Club with Say's Phoebe at Terrapin Park, QA County, in October. A great year of honing birding skills, chasing rarities and making and renewing birding friendships. 2011 is already looking good.

Leo Weigant—My best Maryland sightings were a Razorbill in OC Inlet last January and a Hermit Thrush in my own yard.

Well, that wraps it up for another year! Thanks all of you for your submissions and I wish Good Birding to each and every one of you in 2011!
